Comments on the California Excitement—Continuation of the Flat Deceptive Festivities—Another Statesman With His Remedies—Sheridan Shook vs. Augustin Daily.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The Evening Mail, Graphic and Witness, make copious extracts from the Alta and Chronicle on the Bank of California difficulties, and compares them with the partisan and hostile reports of the Associated Press sent during the excitement.

The Graphic says that the press of the country was used last week in the interest of stock speculators in apparent to any one who will take the trouble of reading the extracts which we give from California papers compared with dispatches sent by the Associated Press.

Two years ago there was a law passed by the State Legislature, to provide for the punishment of persons who disseminate false news with the intention of affecting the stock market.

The District Attorney, does his duty not only should the agent, who has disseminated this news, be arrested and held for trial, but every newspaper, which has been deceived in this manner and which fails to make proper amends to the business public, should also be held accountable to the law.

The Herald has a special touching the relations of the late Mr. Ralston to the Bank of California and the public, and denies on authority that Mr. Ralston was a defaulter, as per Associated Press report.

Hoboken to-day presented the appearance of a gala day, flags were waving from nearly every house in the city, and the streets were crowded with people.

The different clubs, on arrival, were welcomed by the President of the Platt Deutsche Association in an appropriate speech. After that games were inaugurated consisting of sack racing, chasing the greased pig, jumping, &c.

Hon. Elijah Ward, Democratic member of Congress from the Eighth District of New York, is out in the World with a lengthy paper on the political situation. It says what is needed is integrity in public affairs.

He reviews the present financial embarrassment at considerable length, and refers to similar periods in Great Britain, France, Austria, and other countries.

He charges the responsibility of the financial disaster in this country to the Republicans, and arraigns the policy of the Administration and the action of the Republican majority in Congress as holding out fallacious hopes and promises.

He takes ground in favor of a fixed standard of money, and urges vigorous preparation for resuming specie payments. The Government, he says, should authorize the purchase and cancellation of about $1,000,000 of the legal-tender notes, and authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to sell 5 per cent. U. S. bonds.

This being continued the rate of congressional bonds as a gradual, that congressional intervention would be necessary. He also proposes various measures of tariff reform to extend to Canada, Cuba and Mexico, and favors a liberal policy towards the South.

The case of Sheridan Shook and A. M. Palmer, in which they seek to prevent Augustin Daily and others from producing the play of "Rose Michel" came up to-day in the Supreme Court on the order to show cause why the temporary injunction against the defendants should not be made permanent. The counsel for plaintiffs were ready, but the counsel for defendants asked for an adjournment to give time for the papers. The judge adjourned the case to Thursday.

A Gloucester, N. J., special says Coyle and Johnson swam a four mile race for a small stake yesterday, from Etenbank to the New Jersey shore. Johnson won by about 400 yards. After the race Johnson challenged Captain Webb, or any swimmer in the world, on his own terms, for a match.

The State Fair and Other Things.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 7.—An engine of the Hooking Valley Road yesterday fell through the trestle near the Columbus foot below. Joseph J. Davis, formerly yard master of the Short-line road, got both his legs caught between the timbers and the engine and had both of them broken, rendering amputation necessary.

The attendance at the State Fair is good. The exhibition of horses is unusually large. The cattle ring is the best ever exhibited at a State Fair, with one exception. Sheep came from several States and overran the accommodations provided.

There will be a great deal better display of pictures in the Fine Art Hall than as usually found at State Fairs. Agricultural machinery is on the ground in great abundance, but is not yet in order for exhibition.

The exhibition in Manufacturers' Hall takes a very wide range, and crowds the building. The fruit display is better than was anticipated, although the main dependence will be apples.

Grafting.

We often see extravagant statements by which the ignorant are imposed on. Some years ago a story went the round of the newspapers that if the peach would be grafted on the willow, the fruit would have no stones. A similarity in the shape of the leaves led some to believe that grafting would succeed, though the two trees are far separated in affinity. The statement was true that there would be no stones, for there would be neither peaches, stems, nor leaves. Some years ago we saw a "professional" grafter inserting clones of the chestnut into trees of the horse chestnut. A similarity in the name and a fancied resemblance of the nuts had suggested the attempt. The owner called to us, "Mr. T., can we graft the chestnut on the willow, the fruit nut?" "Certainly," we replied. "Will they be pretty sure to grow?" "Not at all; they will never grow—belonging as they do to widely separate natural orders." The dead grafts remaining, showed the result.—Rural New Yorker.

Opening of Art Hall.

Last evening Art Hall, the most attractive feature of the Exposition, was viewed by a select company of invited ladies and gentlemen. The general verdict of the critical audience was highly favorable to the display and to the taste of the committee who have had charge both of the selection and of the arrangement of the hall.

A detailed criticism upon the works presented has already been given by us, a further comment until after the regular opening to-morrow is unnecessary.

The arrangements for the opening day are now thoroughly completed, and the prospects are highly favorable for the greatest parade and finest attendance at known during the history of our Exposition.

The Concerts of the Harmonic Society.

A circular issued by the Harmonic Society announces that the weekly recitals hearsals begin on Monday night, September 13th, at Melodeon Hall, at 7:30 o'clock. The Society has made an engagement with Thomas' Orchestra for a series of concerts, the first two of which are to be given on the 22d and 23d of October, 1875, the others in the spring of 1876. In the concert of the 22d of October the Society will perform "The Bells of Strasbourg Cathedral," a cantata by Liszt.

At the second concert, October 23d, Gluck's Orpheus will be performed. At the latter concert the Society will sing a new cantata of "Paradise and Peri," by Schumann, and a work by Handel. Mr. Thomas is conductor of the instrumental portion of the program.

An engagement with Mr. Max Strakosch is also being negotiated.

This series of concerts will take place in December or January. The Society invites every one who knows the simple rules of music, and can sing, to become members. In view of this, application can be made either to any member or to C. E. La Motte, Proctor, P. O. Box 2,745, or at the rehearsals of the Society. The fee of active members is $5; of associate members, $10.

Amusements.

THE GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—A splendid audience assembled at the Grand last evening, the occasion being the first appearance of Manager Miles' new stock company. The play selected for the debut of the company was a new version of Bartley Campbell's celebrated play, "The Big Bonanza," entitled "Bulls and Bears." Everything was gotten up in the most exquisite style, performed programmes, distributed by ushers, varied in the most approved fashion, delightful music by the Grand Orchestra, under the leadership of Michael Brand, handsome stage decorations, in the way of stands of sweet-scented flowers and monogram bouquets.

The magnificent, adding greatly to the rapidly increasing fame of the scenic artist, Mr. Waugh. The play itself is one that will suit the popular taste, and mounted and acted in the superb style that it was, is bound to have a successful run. We have neither time nor space to enter into an individual analysis of the qualities of all the members of the new stock, but will reserve this for some future time, speaking only of the most prominent ones.—Mr. Mose Fiske, Frank Roche and A. W. Bradley—each of whom acquired themselves in a manner that has won for them many admirers among their audience of last evening, and promising great popularity for their present season.

WOOD'S THEATRE.—Mr. Oliver Doud Byron opened the regular season at this house last evening with his romantic drama, "Donald McKay, the Hero of the Modoc War," supported by Mr. Macaulay's new stock company. There was quite a good audience in attendance, who were very warm in their approbation, especially of their old favorite, John McBride, who appeared in the very amusing character of Daniel Webster Harshorne, and the new leading lady, Miss Laura Phillips. The remainder of the company did what little they had to do well. Mr. Russell Soggs and J. T. Craven carrying away a very liberal share of the evening's applause.

GULICK'S GRAND CENTRAL.—This house was crowded, as usual, last evening, and the entertainment offered was well deserving of an audience as large again, the special feature of the programme being the singing, dancing and character acting of the Grinnell Children, Hattie and Bennie. The manner in which little Hattie sings her repertoire of songs, and her graceful, modest dancing has won for her many friends among the better classes of those who frequent variety shows. The same programme to-night. Matinee this afternoon at two o'clock.

THE NATIONAL.—This house offered an entirely new list of attractions last night, which drew another large audience, who were not slow to bestow their praise where ever it was most deserved. The same programme, with some slight amendments, will be repeated this evening. All lovers of a good variety performance should visit the National.

Chamber of Commerce Election.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 7.
EN STAN: As a member of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, I desire to call the attention of the numerous members of that Board to the coming election of officers, and desire to state that Capt. Chas. M. Holloway, the present President of that body, has been nominated for the same position on the regular ticket. Capt. ## Judge Kelley.

The Hon. W. D. Kelley arrived in the city last night, and this morning was taken in charge by the Committee of the Tobacco Trade and shown through the several warehouses during sales hours. At the Morris house sales were suspended, and the Judge was introduced to the Trade by one of the proprietors, Hon. J. C. Casey.

To a few remarks by Dr. Y. R. Spence, he replied briefly, showing how the arts, manufactures and laborers were all taxed through the tax on whisky and tobacco, and how heavy a hand was laid on the grain and tobacco fields of the South and West by the same. His listeners were evidently in accord with him, and his views fully.

The tobacco trade think highly of the Judge for his wisdom, controversy and attention to them on those various visits to Washington and his question, and regard him as the best informed and most liberal member of Congress of the tobacco question. The Judge speaks cordially and well, and his visit strongly confirmed our previous good impression of him.
